What is Title VI?

Title VI is a statute provision of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Title VI(Sec.601) of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 provides:

"No person in the United States shall, on the grounds of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation, be denied benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance."

Additionally, Executive Order, 12898, Federal Actions to Address Environmental Justice in Minority Populations and Low-Income Populations 1994 provides:

"Each Federal agency shall make achieving environmental justice part of its mission by identifying and addressing, as appropriate, disproportionately high and adverse human health or environmental effects of its programs, policies, and activities on minority populations and low-income populations."

As well as, Executive order 13166, Improving Access to Services for Persons with Limited English Proficiency

"Requires Federal Agencies to examine services they provide, identify any need for services to those with Limited English Proficiency (LEP), develop and implement a system to provide those services so LEP persons can have meaningful access to them."

Related statutes provide protection against discrimination on the basis of sex, age, disability, or socioeconomic status by programs receiving federal financial assistance.
