Liz Falconer

Oil Painter

Liz Falconer is a painter of landscapes- somewhat abstracted and lively, lovely, whimsical - joyful. She has been painting and selling professionally for 30 years. She attended Laguna College of Art, Orange Coast College, Santa Fe Art Institute and many seminars/ workshops on painting and drawing. In 2002 she got a Doctorate in Spirituality with the thesis of seeing and communicating the “power of place”. She has most recently moved from Santa Fe, New Mexico. Her work presents the viewer with a landscape that is an intense experience of beauty, color and the ineffable joy of the land. Hopefully, the next time the viewer looks at landscape she sees it more fully - becoming more aware of the ‘now’ she is in!
