Rossanna

Sewing Instructor, Pattern Maker

Rossanna has been creating and constructing quality garments for 40 years, with specialties in pattern making and draping. After graduating from Brooks Fashion College in Long Beach, she began working in various markets across garment industry. She started out as a sample maker for a men's shirt company, and then transitioned into retail to help buyers at Nordstrom create their private label. Her diverse background in the field of fashion suited her for a role as a sewing instructor, so she could pass on her skills to a new generation of sewers and designers. She now teaches students of all ages, from beginners to advanced levels. She can teach you to use a sewing machine and make patterns to turn your talents into a profitable business. Whether it's creating one-of-a-kind home furnishings, constructing a clothing line, or mending/altering clothes, Rossanna can help!
