Stacy Moffatt

Chalk, Acrylic Paint

Stacy Moffatt has been working in the creative industry for fifteen years. She started as a chalkboard artist for a grocery store and worked her way through college completing a BA in Illustration. From there, her hand lettering, and illustration foundation have grown into a career of visual communication between her clients and their audience. For Stacy, art and design were always the most basic form of communication. Finding her voice, in telling their stories is where it gets exciting for her.
