ShakeOut and COVID-19

International ShakeOut Day is each third Thursday of October.

This year, that's 10/15. How will you participate?

There has been a lot of uncertainty over the past few months due to COVID-19. Work environments are adapting and changing. Schools and colleges are considering how to operate. It seems like every day, we are confronting new challenges. All while earthquakes are still happening. One thing's for sure: ShakeOut is also still happening on 10/15, and we are here to support you.

Purpose:

Considerations:

- Where will you all be for your drill? Together, or some at home, work, and school? Consider video-conferencing! Take recordings or screenshots to share on social media. Have an after-action dialogue and survey.
- If in-person, follow COVID-19 health and safety guidelines. Ensure distancing and wear masks, and regularly wash your hands.
- Choose your own date (or multiple dates) to accommodate as many participants as possible, rotating schedules, and the unexpected. Most may still participate on 10/15.

... What Else?

- Consider all potential hazards and the risks you may face. Fires, floods, weather, earthquakes, tsunamis, landslides, and more can still happen.
- Follow the Seven Steps to Earthquake Safety to protect your family, property, and way of of life ahead of the next disaster: EarthquakeCountry.org/sevensteps.
- Visit coronavirus.gov for the latest updates.
