Pacific Chorale Choral Festival

Q7

Description of project (e.g. location, # of participants, event summary) - If necessary, submit additional pages and / or project materials (300 words max).

Each summer, over 200 singers from Orange County and beyond join Pacific Chorale for a musical "fantasy camp" weekend in Costa Mesa. Under the direction of Artistic Director Robert Istad, community singers gather with Pacific Chorale members in Segerstrom Concert Hall to rehearse and perform a major choral work--all with no audition necessary. The 3-day festival culminates in a free public concert which has drawn sell-out crowds for fourteen years running.

Hundreds of singers from all over Orange, L.A., Riverside and San Diego counties have identified this as a "bucket list" event, including an increasing number of fans from other states who plan their summer travels in order to be in Costa Mesa for the festival. They cite their joy in being able to come together with hundreds of like-minded people to perform works that are not normally possible in a church or community choir. This is an incomparable opportunity to perform with a Grammy-winning ensemble in a beautiful venue, under one of the nation's pre-eminent choral directors. It is no wonder that singer participant and audience spots sell out quickly year after year.

The Choral Festival, now in its fifteenth year, is a linchpin in Pacific Chorale's mission to inspire and nurture a lifelong love of singing. Pacific Chorale has been a key part of the Costa Mesa arts and education community for 55 years, and has been the resident chorus of the Segerstrom Center for the Arts since its construction. As a long-time partner of Pacific Symphony, the Chorale is one of the most well-known and respected symphonic choruses in the entire country, especially since winning the Grammy for Best Choral Performance for its recording with the L.A. Philharmonic in 2022. As the primary civic, social, and artistic outlet for more than 200 volunteer and professional singers, heard by more than 18,000 listeners annually, Pacific Chorale is a jewel in the crown of the Costa Mesa arts landscape.
